

RED FLAG MANAGED · THE NIGHTS PROMISE

We'll put 18 nights a month on your calendar.

In writing. Or your onboarding fee comes back — automatically.

From $2.16 a night with three properties · Refunded automatically if we miss

Illustrative calendar.

YOU ALREADY KNOW THE PROBLEM

Most rentals sit half empty.

12–15

nights a month — where most short-term rentals sit

The rate barely moves, so weekends sell cheap and weekdays sit empty

Guests message at midnight and the cleaner cancels on Sunday

It isn't the property. Nobody is working the calendar every single day.

Illustrative calendar.

SO WE PUT IT IN WRITING

108

nights per property, in six months

An average of 18 a month. Miss it, and your onboarding fee comes back.

IF WE MISS, YOU DON'T CHASE US

No claim form. No proof. No chasing.

- We count the nights from our own booking records, not yours
- We check at month six whether you ask or not
- If we're short, the refund goes to your account within 30 days
- If you think our count is wrong, you have 30 days to tell us

WHAT WE DO, EVERY DAY

We work the calendar. Every single day.

1 Reprice

Your calendar daily — weekends, events, season, local demand

2 Rank

Rewrite and rank your listing on Airbnb, Vrbo, Booking.com and direct

3 Answer

Every guest, 24/7, inquiry to checkout

4 Clean

Schedule every clean, turnover and linen change

5 Maintain

Coordinate maintenance and vendors

6 Pay

You, twice a month, with an itemized statement

IT STAYS YOURS

Your property. Your listing.

- ✓ The listing stays in your name, with your reviews and your history
- ✓ We don't brand your property or put our name on your door
- ✓ You keep full ownership and control of the asset
- ✓ Cancel on 30 days' notice, any time

WHAT YOU DO, ONCE

One setup spec. Then you step back.

We assess your property and send a written setup spec — what to fix, add or replace before we relist it.

Within 30 days

You complete the spec, at your cost

Sign-off

Our team inspects and signs off in writing

Day one

The six months start at sign-off, not at payment

Skip items on the spec and the promise doesn't apply — it's the only way we can guarantee nights on a property we didn't furnish.

THREE PROPERTIES, ONE FEE

$699 covers up to three.

Property 1

Enrolled on day one · 108 nights
promised

Property 2

Enrolled on day one · 108 nights

Property 3

Enrolled on day one · 108 nights
promised

Added later

8% for life — but no nights promise

The promise applies to the properties enrolled on day one. Add more later: you keep 8% for life on those too, but the nights promise covers only what we assessed at onboarding.

THE CONDITIONS, PLAINLY

Five conditions. No small print.

Available

At least 27 nights a month, with up to 12 owner nights across the six months

Control

We control pricing, availability and listing content

Floor rate

Nights count at or above a floor rate we agree together — so we can't hit the number by dumping your rate

Repairs

Approved within 7 days

Permitted

Your property stays permitted and insured for short-term rental

HOW IT STARTS

From first call to live in about five weeks.

Week 1

Free assessment. We check real demand in your market and agree your floor rate.

Week 1

You enroll. Setup spec issued. W-9 and insurance confirmed.

Weeks 2-5

You complete the spec. We inspect and sign off.

Go-live

Relisted, repriced, live. The six months begin.

RED FLAG MANAGED

From $2.16 a night, with three properties.

8% for life. Nights in writing.

Send us your listing links. We'll assess them free and tell you whether they can hit the number — before you pay anything. If they can't, we'll say so.

Figures are illustrative and depend on rate, season, market and your own operating costs. We guarantee a number of nights, not income. The Nights Promise is subject to its terms. This is a property management agreement, not a franchise.

QUESTIONS OWNERS ASK · 1 OF 3

The guarantee.

What exactly are you guaranteeing?

A number of nights, not an amount of money. 108 qualifying nights per property over six months — an average of 18 a month. The number for your property is written into your agreement.

Do I have to file a claim?

No. We count the nights from our own booking records and check at month six whether you ask or not. If we're short, the money goes back to your account within 30 days.

Is this a franchise?

No. This is a property management agreement. We don't license you our brand, we don't put our name on your property, and you aren't buying a business. You're hiring a manager.

Why is your fee so much lower than everyone else's?

Most full-service managers run on payroll. Our operations run on an AI system, so each additional property costs us very little. That's the whole difference.

What if you miss it?

We refund your onboarding fee, pro-rated across the properties that fell short. Three properties enrolled and one short means $233 back.

Why $2.16 a night for some owners and $6.47 for others?

The fee is the same $699 whether you enroll one property or three. One property buys 108 promised nights; three buys 324 — so it's $6.47 a night with one property and $2.16 a night with three properties.

Who holds the listing?

You do. It stays in your name with your reviews, your history and your account. We manage it for you. If you leave, nothing transfers.

QUESTIONS OWNERS ASK · 2 OF 3

Running costs, taxes and rules.

What about cleaning?

Cleaning is charged to the guest as a cleaning fee, the way it works on every major platform. We schedule it and manage the cleaners.

What about permits and HOA rules?

Your property must be legally permitted for short-term rental in your city, and your HOA or condo rules must allow it. We'll ask you to confirm both in writing before we start — and we'll tell you if we think your city makes it unworkable.

Do I need special insurance?

Yes. A standard homeowner policy usually excludes paying guests. You'll need a short-term rental endorsement or policy, and we ask to be named as an additional insured where your carrier allows.

What do I still pay for?

Utilities, supplies, insurance, your mortgage or rent, major repairs, and your own taxes. Also anything on the setup spec.

What about taxes?

Lodging and occupancy taxes are collected by the platforms in many markets, but not all. Income tax is yours. We'll need a W-9 before your first payout and may issue a 1099. Talk to your CPA.

Can you just drop my rate to hit the number?

No. We agree a floor rate with you at onboarding, and nights sold below it don't count toward the promise. It protects you and it stops us gaming our own guarantee.

QUESTIONS OWNERS ASK · 3 OF 3

Using, leaving and earning.

Can I still use my place?

Yes — up to 12 owner nights across the six months, blocked in advance. Beyond that the promise no longer applies, because we can't sell nights that aren't available.

Can I cancel?

Yes, on 30 days' notice, honoring any confirmed bookings. If you cancel inside the first six months, the promise lapses.

What if you turn my property down?

We'll tell you why, in writing, and you pay nothing. We'd rather decline than take a fee for nights we can't deliver.

How do I get paid?

Twice a month, with a statement showing every booking and every deduction.

What if my market is seasonal?

We set your number from your market, not a template. A beach property might be promised fewer nights than an urban one. We'd rather promise a number we can hit.

Is my income guaranteed?

No. We guarantee nights, not dollars. What those nights earn depends on your rate, your season and your market.
